

In distribution since 1926, we know what works.

Top-quality raw materials are essential – but they're just the beginning. In an increasingly competitive market, standing out takes more: it takes the right partner.

Practical, responsive, reliable. With a clear vision and the ability to turn every need into a tailored solution.

A strategic partner.

That's how we've always worked: by your side, with the expertise that makes the difference.

We bring you the right ingredients to develop effective, safe solutions that support well-being and deliver real value to your customers.

About Faravelli

Founded in Milan in 1926, Faravelli is marking its centenary in 2026, highlighting a century of evolution into an international group specialised in the distribution of raw materials across nutraceutical, pharmaceutical, food, cosmetic and fine chemicals industries.

Over the past 100 years, the company has maintained an independent, family-owned structure—an approach that has enabled long-term strategic planning and consistent positioning in highly regulated and competitive markets.

With in Milan (Italy), the Group employs around 170 people and operates through fully owned subsidiaries in Germany, the Czech Republic (also covering Slovakia and Hungary), Spain, the United States, and China.
